

Bruce Wolff Founder, Executive Director Brigade Air, Inc.

Bruce Wolff, Director of Brigade Air is the son of missionaries to Africa. He is a commercial pilot, aircraft mechanic, and certified flight instructor.

Bruce, a graduate of Moody Aviation in Tennessee, and The King's College in New York, served for six years as a missionary pilot and mechanic, assisting other evangelical church-planting missionaries in the Sierra Madres Mountains of Mexico.

Bruce developed the Brigade Air curriculum in 2000, and established the Brigade Air summer flight camp program in 2001.

There have been over 2500 Brigade Air campers at 104 week long camps to date. Former campers are enrolled at Moody Aviation, Liberty University, LeTourneau University.

About Brigade Air

Brigade Air implements a Christian youth mentoring curriculum and mission aviation camping program with the goal of encouraging young people to seriously consider God's calling on their lives to serve in the arena of missionary aviation. Brigade Air is unique in this nationwide effort.

Brigade Air was established on June 1, 2000, with Bruce Wolff as the Director. To date, Brigade Air has educated over 2500 campers in a total of 104 summer camp weeks over the last ten years.

The weeklong camps have been conducted in seventeen different states and one province of Canada. (AK, CA, FL, IN, ME, MI, NC, NH, NJ, NY, OH, OK, OR, SC, TX, WI, WV, and Alberta, Canada).

The Brigade Air Book 1 curriculum was written and was published in September 2001. The kit contains a leader's guide with Bible lessons integrated with aviation anecdotes, two CD-ROM interactive educational programs (courtesy of NASA), instructional videos on DVD (courtesy of King Schools), navigational chart and plotter, and educational wall posters (courtesy of Cessna Aircraft Co).

There are currently about 70 churches, home-schools and Christian schools using the curriculum.
