

Caryl Mallory, Wycliffe Associate

As the Director of IT Engagement, Caryl attends university mission's weeks, Finishers Forums and other vision casting events as part of the Public Relations team. She also administers and presents at Check-IT-Out conferences, where IT professionals see how computers and communications support Bible translation and the variety of ways they can be involved.

In addition, she coordinates potential IT staff site visits, technical questionnaires, and helps place IT volunteers worldwide through volunteer project listings. Her team maintains three websites as well as Facebook pages to attract IT interested people to the third highest need for staff in all of Wycliffe.

Caryl previously served as a missionary in Alaska with Solid Rock Ministries and has been involved with Wycliffe for over 20 years in volunteer and member capacities. Caryl has several college degrees including a Masters in Public Administration. She has extensive administrative experience in non-profit and government agencies that included working for the CA State Park System, US Forest Service, Girl Scouts, Christian Herald and more.
